VOLUME XXI. NUMBER 21.

LOUISA, LAWRENCE COUNTY, KENTUCKY JANUARY 25, 1906.

M. F. CONLEY, Publisher.

THE NEWS OF THE WEEK.

A Daily Resume of Important Happenings.

William Van Dusen, who cut Fannie Porter's throat with a razor on the afternoon of September 19, 1904, was hanged in the yard of the Jefferson county jail Friday morning at 7:24 1/2 o'clock.

At 7:35 o'clock he was pronounced dead by Dr. William A. Keller.

Van Dusen's neck was not broken.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 17.—Development in the diamond fields of Elliott county result in the discovery of what is believed to be the only chrysoberite mine in America and possibly in the world. Specimens of these precious jewels have been sent to this city and turned over to the State Geological Survey, with a request to make a thorough investigation of the mine during the spring.

The specimens are beautiful green stones, which are said to be rarer than any of the precious stones, by many jewelers they are regarded as more valuable than diamonds, especially on account of their rarity, as it is said that the only chrysoberite in existence have been taken from old jewelry.

In compliance with the request of the owners of the land in Elliott county which is believed to contain this mine of chrysoberite, diamonds and other precious stones, the State Geological Survey will make an investigation, and if diamonds and chrysoberite are found in Kentucky, Elliott county will become another Kimberley.

The discovery of the specimens of stones thought to be chrysoberite is the result of the recent investigation made in the Elliott county dikes by David C. Draper, a diamond expert from Transvaal, South Africa, who came to America for the express purpose of studying the Elliott county fields. Mr. Draper was brought to America by the owners of the land, who had long contended that diamonds could be found in Elliott county of the property was developed. In his report Mr. Draper said that the conditions were as favorable to diamonds in Elliott county as they were at Kimberley, South Africa.

So much encouraged are the owners of the property by the report of Mr. Draper that they put a force of men at work mining into the extinct craters of volcanoes, and the result was the discovery of the mine thought to be chrysoberite and the failure to discover diamonds. Garnets in large quantities, and even traces of silver, were found in the mines as they are the result of the land decided in request of the State Geological Survey to make an investigation.

J. K. Denton and J. E. Henry, prominent farmers of Mt. Sterling, were sent to jail for contempt of court as the result of displays of temper in Judge Young's tribunal.

Owingsville, Ky., Jan. 20.—James H. Richter, aged ninety-one years, died last night as the result of a fall two weeks ago, when he slipped on the ice and broke his thigh. Mr. Richter leaves an estate of about $10,000. He was a director and the largest stockholder in the Owingsville Banking Company. The remains will be interred in the Owingsville cemetery.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Jan. 20.—J. E. Henry was fined by Circuit Judge Young $25 for contempt of court and put under bond of $500 to keep the peace for twelve months. He was also indicted for carrying concealed weapons in the court room.

Letters are pouring daily from all parts of the world from Kentuckians who are coming to Kentucky during "Home Coming" week next June. Statistics are being gathered from the various States in the Union in which native-born Kentuckians are now residing. R. E. Hughes is now preparing 5,000 new stories relative to "Home Coming" week, which will be sent to the weekly and semi-weekly papers in eleven States which have large numbers of native-born Kentuckians in their midst.

Only a limited number of these stories will be sent to papers in States where the native-born Kentuckians are in small evidence. His scribbles lead the list of States in now harboring native-born Kentuckians. The last statistical report from Missouri in this line is to the effect that there are now 82,241 native-born Kentuckians within her borders. The other leading States are as follows: Illinois, 62,209; Indiana, 77,557; Ohio, 53,464; Texas, 47,232; Kansas, 21,264; Arkansas, 20,611; Oklahoma Territory, 17,115; West Virginia, 10,967; Idaho Territory, 8,622.

According to the Department of Agriculture at Washington, Kentucky in 1905 produced over one-third of the tobacco raised in the entire country.

There is pending before the Legislature a bill providing that all criminals condemned to death shall hereafter be executed within the walls of the State penitentiary instead of, as now required by law, in the yard of the county jail. This law prevails in some of the States, and it has been found altogether more practicable than that in vogue with us.

Judge Davitt, the new Kentucky Senator, was too young to serve in the civil war and he is the first senator of that kind to represent the Blue Grass State since Appomattox.

The Olympian Springs Company, which owns the Olympian Springs property in Bath county, has begun the foundation for an addition to the hotel, and the work will be pushed to completion in order to be used by guests when the springs are opened for this season. A 1/2 mile will be built, and a dancing pavilion, with rooms overhead for accommodation of guests. An electric heating and lighting plant is to be installed, and other improvements made.

On the west side of the Owingsville and Princeton turnpike, two and one-half miles south of Owingsville, is situated a relic of the olden time that never fails to attract the attention of passersby. It is the old stock of what was formerly "State Furnace," the first iron ore furnace erected west of the Allegheny mountains, and which was, at the time of its running, one of the most important points in the then "new West." The old furnace was erected in 1790 by a Baltimore syndicate headed by Col. Thomas Deye Owings, who came here when a young man from Baltimore and who later organized the company. Shortly after seeing his furnace started on a period of great prosperity, Col. Owings built his famous mansion in this town, from which the town derives its name. The house was the finest private residence west of the Allegheny mountains. Celebrated architects were brought from Baltimore to superintend its erection, and it is estimated to have cost $500,000, an enormous sum in those days. The furnace company also operated a store which was the meeting place of all the countryside. A blockhouse or fort was situated about a mile from the furnace, at which Daniel Boone, Simon Kenton and other famous Indian fighters and scouts were wont to congregate. Wild Indians then roamed the hills about here, and on one occasion a clerk at the furnace was shot and killed as he stood near the furnace door by an Indian concealed on a nearby hillside.

When Louis Philippe, the exiled Bourbon King of France, was here on a visit to Col. Owings he was a frequent visitor to the old furnace, and was fond of riding in the iron baskets that were used to hoist the metal. The King was fond of hunting; on one hunting trip killed a deer. He skinned the animal, and when he returned to France to resume his throne, he carried the deer skin with him. It was while the King was here that his party sent a messenger telling him it was safe for him to return to France, but Louis answered that he was very well satisfied where he was and refused to return with the messenger. Six months later the messenger again returned, stating that Louis' party was again in power, and that he was wanted to return and resume his throne. This time the King went with the messenger, but he never forgot his sojourn in the wilds of Kentucky, and he frequently wrote to Col. Owings.

In 1815 the cannon balls used at the battle of New Orleans were made at the old furnace. The furnace stands on the banks of State Creek, and the cannon balls were loaded on flatboats. It was reported that the balls to the Ohio river by way of the Licking river, and at the Ohio river were transferred to steamboats making the rest of the trip comparatively easy. The original order from Gen. Andrew Jackson to the furnace company for the cannon balls was discovered in some old papers when the court in case here was remodeled two years ago.

WEBBVILLE.

The Junior Order is doing a good business helping the sick and poor. They recently passed the following resolutions:

Whereas, we recognize the landing upon our shores of the ignorant, the vicious, the lawless, the aged, the feeble, the weak-minded and of poor physique, and the paupers of the old world as a constant menace to our institutions, and believe that it should be viewed with alarm by all loyal and patriotic citizens of the entire country;

Whereas, notorious abuses have resulted from careless and unlawful granting of citizenship to aliens;

Therefore, be it resolved, that we urge upon Senators and Congressmen the importance of the enactment of laws of restricted immigration by an increase of the head tax, the education test, a thorough physical examination and a more rigid inspection at the port of embarkation, and;

Be it further resolved, that we urge upon Senators and Congressmen the importance of a revision of our system of naturalization by the enactment of such laws as will require uniformity of naturalization certificates, confine the jurisdiction of naturalizing aliens to United States Courts, and permit no alien to be naturalized or entitled to the privilege of an elector until he shall have resided within the United States ten years at least, and is able to read intelligently and write.

I hereby certify that the foregoing resolution was adopted at a regular meeting of Webbville Council, Junior Order United American Mechanics, held on the 9 day of January, A. D. 1906, and that this Council has a membership of 53 in good standing.

SAFE AT HOME.

The world never abated a fear for its painted deer. They are safe for the harvest is when the farmer has bound it into sheaves and stored it away, or as the case is when the hunter has wrapped their roots in straw and hoisted them from the storm. They are as safe as the larks that fly from the green earth out of reach of the hunter's snare and the aim of the cruel sportsman. They are safe as warriors who march beneath worn battle-flags no more but sit down with conquerors to feasts of song and wine. They are as safe as young larks are when shepherds fold them from the blast and carry them over rough places in tender arms. Weep for the living all you choose; let your tears be shed above the dying bird when your darling lies like a wreath of falling snow beneath the glances of death, but if you believe in God, and hold your faith in heaven, shed not your tears for the blessed and happy dead. Christianity gives the life to the heart when it casts itself in sacrifice and mourns without comfort for those who have exchanged the inn for the palace, the wilderness for the land of peace and plenty.

EXAMPLE FOR YOUNG MEN.

1905 has now passed into history. No year in the history of the world has left to our young men brighter examples of the old maxim that "honesty is the best policy." No other year has seen the downfall of so many men holding high position in society, in financial circles and even in the church. Men who lived in palaces and were next to worshipped by their fellow men at the dawn of 1905 were behind prison bars when the old year bid adieu. The heads of many of our great insurance companies and banking houses, have in their desire to get rich quick stepped aside from the path of honesty, with the result that never fails to follow such a course, and the new year finds them disgraced and shamed. Among the most striking examples in this class is that of Prof. N. C. Dougherty, superintendent of schools in the beautiful city of Peoria, Illinois, a position he held for 27 years. Not only in the school to which he was attached was his influence as an educator in demand, but high schools, Y. M. C. A. conventions, college and teachers' associations felt extremely honored when they could induce Prof. Dougherty to speak before them upon educational matters, and one of his strange points was in trying to impress upon the minds of young men the necessity of honesty and upright character.

But that is all ended now, Prof. Dougherty's days as an educator, in what we may call a positive manner, are ended, his silvery voice will no longer urge men and women to live up to the highest ideals of right and duty. But Dougherty's career as an educator is not yet over, though his teachings now will be rather negative than positive, by example rather than precept; the lesson he is now giving should sink deep into the hearts and memories of all young men as it demonstrates the terrible effects of disobeying the mandates of honesty and straying from the paths of righteousness.

The spectacle is a sad one to be snatched in a moment, as it were, from the high place he held in the confidence and esteem of his fellow men, known by positions that gave him places among the highest and best of his people with every confidence, a loving family circle where all was love and happiness, a host of admiring friends, respected and loved by everybody, the idol of hundreds of teachers and thousands of pupils, all are gone, he has exchanged them for the four walls of a prison cell and in a little while he will lose even his name and will be known simply by number. Even the dollars for which he sacrificed so much, they too are gone, everything is swept clean and the wife of his bosom will have to leave her comfortable home and go out into the world, worse than widowed, of all interests and purposes a pauper and the friends who have loved him and upheld him must all prefer, not from anything external they have done, but from the confidence and friendship of those who were his closest friends may be stripped of reputation and fortune simply because they were too confident of his integrity.

Young men, the career of Prof. Dougherty furnishes a frightful example of the necessity of keeping in the narrow path of honesty. It is dangerous to turn to the right or left; beware of the first step outward, it is the crucial test; without taking the first step you are safe, but when you once leave the right path you never know where your wanderings may lead you to.

Another lesson taught by Prof. Dougherty's fall, and we wish to emphasize it, is that you do not go down alone, all those who love and trust you will be more or less affected by your downfall and they that you love and that love you must suffer the most. The memory of the loved ones ought to stay your hand when you are tempted to go wrong. We doubt if Prof. Dougherty, in his long and successful career as an educator, has ever before taught

Does your baking powder contain alum? Look upon the label. Use only a powder whose label shows it to be made with cream of tartar.

NOTE.—Safety lies in buying only the Royal Baking Powder, which is the best cream of tartar baking powder that can be had.

so valuable a lesson as the one to be drawn from the disclosures and career and placed him behind the proceeding which have ended that prison bars, bereft of home, fortune and friends, a pariah in society.

Prof. Dougherty furnishes in some of many examples we would like to place before our young men, some of them, we regret to say, could be found much nearer home.

Some Curious Facts.

Animals to the number of nearly 70,000,000 are killed yearly for their fur. When a fish loses any of its scales by a wound or other means, they are never renewed. The largest moth known is the giant atlas, found in China, the wings of which measure nine inches across. The wasp has been observed to waylay and rob bees when the latter laden with honey, were returning to the hive. Civilization does not tend to the horse's longevity. In the wild state he lives to be thirty-six or forty years old, while the domestic horse is old at the age of twenty-five years.

On behalf of the bears, the Bernese municipality has accepted a legacy of $700, left by a man for the inmates of the well-known pits in the Swiss capital.

Among the insects the most intelligent are among those of the ant tribe, while next to them rank wasps. Bees some way lower down on the scale. Bees are hopelessly stupid, but even they are not as bad as butterflies and moths.

In West Australia some farmers send their cattle for about six weeks' holiday to the seaside each year. The change of air and food is said to be extremely beneficial to them. The grass on the coast is irrigated with saline and has the effect of a tonic on the animals.

Arabian horses show remarkable courage in battle. It is said that when a horse of this breed finds himself wounded, and knows instinctively that he will not be able to carry his rider much longer, he quickly retires, leaving his master to a piece of safety while he has yet sufficient strength to do so. On the other hand the rider is wounded and falls to the ground, the faithful animal remains beside him, manifesting of danger, nothing until assistance is brought.

Trading in polecat skins and the delivery of the United States mail in the rural sections are two occupations that can not be engaged in at the same time, according to Assistant Postmaster General Degraw. Mr. Degraw was called upon to decide a rather sorry case. Complaint had been received from a farmer living in Little Hocking, O., who declared solemnly that the rural free delivery carrier, who delivered mail at the farmer's home engaged in the traffic of polecat skins as a side line.

FRIDAY, Jan. 26, 1906.

Representative Smith has introduced a bill substituting electrocution for hanging, and fixing the penitentiary as the place of execution.

Attorney General N. B. Hayes, it is said, will shortly announce his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Kentucky.

Senator Watson has offered a bill to secure a better grade of oil for miners, and to increase the efficiency of the State Mine Inspector's Department.

Mr. Redwine's bill making the fee $100 instead of $10 for the remission of a fine for carrying concealed deadly weapons was lost by a vote of 28 in favor of the bill and 39 against it.

A large crowd was attracted to the Supreme Court room in Washington to hear the argument in the Calhoun Powers case. The Justices manifested much interest and asked many questions of the attorneys.

House Bill, No. 8, amending Section 42 of the Criminal Code, has passed. The bill provides that County Judges and Police Judges, as well as Magistrates, may have the power of summoning before them any witness they may think might know of any of the State's laws being violated.

Henry Watterson has accepted the invitation of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the Homecoming week, to deliver the address of welcome to those Kentuckians, whose present abiding place is elsewhere, but who then will return to the land of their birth to renew old acquaintances and refresh their memories of the scenes and events of their childhood.

While the work of regulating companies, rates, and other things throughout the country is so popular, the express companies should not be overlooked. There is no monopoly in the country that is imposing upon the people worse than this. Their charges are beyond all reason and it is very difficult to collect from them for losses or damages. Their rates should be cut in two.

With natural gas, waterworks, two railroads and electric navigation, a bridge, good school and churches, cheap fuel, attractive and beautiful location, good people, reasonable rents, Louisa possesses the requisites for a prosperous town of several times its present population. Those desiring a good location for the establishment of enterprises to employ labor, or for a pleasant place of residence can not do better than come here.

Big Sandy farmers should strive to improve the grade of their stock and poultry until all of the unprofitable scrub variety shall have been replaced by the more thrifty breeds. The same amount of food and care will bring much greater returns from the better grades and it is a waste of time, labor and profits to produce the kind that never finds a ready demand in the market. The progressive spirit put into extension pays as well on the farm as anywhere else. During the few weeks yet to pass before active work opens on the farm would it not be well to plan for larger and better things for the coming season than you have had heretofore?

Four distinguished Kentucky beauties are visiting in Washington at one time. Miss Paul Lansing, of Versailles, celebrated for her charm since she was Miss Mary Wiley, is the guest at the Cochrans, of her cousin, Senator and Mrs. McCrory. Mrs. Clarence Lebus, of Cynthiana, a stunningly handsome woman, is with Mrs. James A. Hughes, at the Rochambs. Mrs. John Middleton, of Louisville, is with Mrs. Fairbanks, who gave a dinner in her honor this week. Mrs. Hughes has issued cards to a reception in honor of her guests, Mrs. Lebus, Mrs. Espey Goodpastor, of Owensville, and Mrs. S. C. Ford, of Mt. Sterling. Mrs. Hughes the handsome young wife of the Representative from Huntington, was formerly Miss Belle Vinson, of Kentucky. Wash. correspondent Louisville Courier Journal.

It was decided definitely at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Educational Improvement Association to-day that only Normal School will be asked of this Legislature. The appropriation to be requested will be $25,000 for equipment and an annual appropriation of $25,000 for maintenance. It is believed that in two years the school will be self sustaining and of such practical benefit to education in Kentucky that the next Legislature will not hesitate to provide for the other two schools.

The Kentucky Post Association met in Frankfort Tuesday in its regular monthly winter business session. Coordinated action was taken to secure correction of the ancient libel laws now on our statute books. Two business sessions were held during the day at which various matters of interest were discussed. At night a delightful program was rendered. Gov. Beckham was invited to preside over the meeting and did so with much dignity and grace. Wm. L. Vasher, of Chicago, and Arthur Y. Ford, of Louisville, were the chief speakers, and their addresses were of the highest order.

Abolish the Pistol.

From all over Kentucky comes the cry for a better, more effective law concerning the carrying of concealed deadly weapons. The present statute is wholly inefficient, and its inadequacy is more and more evident as time goes on. The pernicious habit of pistol carrying is far more prevalent than some suppose, and it increases. Something must be done, and that quickly, to break up the cowardly custom, and we believe that the bill introduced by Representative Johnson will, if passed, be an effective remedy.

Mr. Johnson's bill strikes at the very root of the evil. It provides that a man cannot enter the place of self defense in murder, manslaughter or shooting or cutting with intent to kill if it is proven that at the time of the difficulty he had a concealed deadly weapon. No man will take a gun or a knife for the purpose of shooting or cutting someone, if the very thing which he carries for them will end him to the penitentiary or the gallows when he carries his intention into action. Instead of having a gun in a difficulty being an advantage to a man, it will be a positive disadvantage. The bill should by all means become a law. Senator Johnson should have the backing of all good citizens in the matter and the Commercial Club of Kentucky cannot do a better thing for the advancement of Kentucky than to stand behind Senator Johnson in this very splendid measure.

The Redwine Judicial Bill.

The bill of Mr. Redwine does not deprive the Circuit Judge of a district of any of his power or patronage and cannot be objected to upon this ground. It only authorizes the Judge, when he finds a county of his district with an overworked docket, select a number of the civil cases on that docket, which are ready for trial, and designate them in a communication to the Governor, and ask the appointment of a special Judge to try them. While this special term is being held the regular Judge of the district can go on to his next place of court, and only civil cases being tried, and no grand jury sitting at the special court, the presence of the Commonwealth's Attorney at regular courts is not interfered with, nor is his work added to in any way. Should the bill become a law the section of Eastern Kentucky which is unable to secure the new district, will be almost as well provided for as if it had secured it.

PIRATING POLEY'S HONEY AND TAR.

Poley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Poley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the purpose of securing the new district, will be almost as well provided for as if it had secured it.

The big plant of the Peerless Manufacturing Company in Huntington, operated by Hicks, Watts and Co., was entirely destroyed by fire Tuesday morning. The loss was about $25,000.

Last Wednesday night, at Warfield, Greenup county, the postoffice and general store burned to the ground. It was thought to be the work of incendiaries, as every evidence points to both store and postoffice having been robbed.

Prestonburg, Ky., Jan. 26.—The residence of S. L. May, on Beaver, twenty miles from here, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The loss will be $2,000, with no insurance. Mr. May lost his store by fire a few weeks ago.

All three of the negroes charged with the murder of Jenkins, another negro, in a saloon in Ashland on the 6th of last November have been tried and convicted. Harris, as was stated in this paper some days ago, got 21 years, and last week Harvey Green and Arthur France each got a life sentence.

Hacked to death with a hatchet in the hands of a colored man named Bruce Howard, was the wife of Harvey McNeer, white, a painter. The affair occurred at Thompson's saloon on Lower Third avenue, in Huntington, at 11 o'clock Saturday night. There were more than a score of eye witnesses to the death, but as usual in such cases, stories as to how the affair originated are widely at variance.

Woods Whitliff, formerly of Louisa, road supervisor on the Cincinnati division C. and O. railroad collided with a horse and buggy near Vanceburg the other day, and the gasoline automobile he was driving killed the horse, not injuring Whitliff very much. Later, while adjusting the machinery of the car, a heavy iron crank struck Whitliff on the head, cutting a big gash and making him unconscious for some time.

A distressing accident occurred at Summit Station, last Thursday morning, at 5:40, which may result in the death of Miss Lila Helton, of Greenup county, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Kate Hackworth at that place. She had crossed the railroad to get a bucket of water, from a spring, and upon her return was struck by C. and O. train No. 23, her left leg being crushed above the knee. She was taken to Ashland, where she died the same night.

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 25.—Eighteen men were employed yesterday in the mine of the Detroit-Kanawha Company, on Paint Creek, 25 miles from here, by an explosion of coal dust. One body has been recovered, and it is feared the other men have perished. Rescue parties are making great difficulty in getting into the mine, which was wrecked by the force of the explosion. All the bodies have been recovered. One had been blown 500 feet from the mouth of the mine.

Vanceburg, Ky., Jan. 26.—Dr. Charles M. Beach, who left here last September under bond charged with the murder of Herman Lamm, returned this morning and voluntarily surrendered to the custody of the Circuit Judge Marion for bail was at once made, and Judge Harbison, after hearing the evidence, decided that the doctor was entitled to bail and fixed the same at $10,000, which was at once given. There has been a great change in public sentiment, favorable to Dr. Beach, since the facts have been developed.

George F. Miller, of Huntington, has been made President of the Triple-State Natural Gas and Oil Co. At the meeting of the directors of the company, held at Franklin, Pa., at which Mr. Miller was elected President, a contract was entered into between the Triple-State Natural Gas and Oil Company and the United States Natural Gas Company, by which the United States company is to furnish to the Triple-State company, gas for distribution and use in the city of Huntington and the town of Garrettsville. This arrangement will no doubt insure plenty of gas for use in all the towns now being furnished with the commodity.—Cereus Advance.

Both arms and legs were broken and he was injured internally. A number worked for several hours to extricate the unfortunate man and his sufferings were such as no pen could describe. THE WRONG WAY.

The Penalty Paid For Not Doing Business Safely.

A man in Martin county recently lost his house by fire. He had $100 in hard earned money deposited in an organ. The flames beat him to the organ and in his desperate efforts to save the money he was considerably injured. The money and organ were consumed.

Another man, Mr. Alley, down in Boyd county, lost his house by fire. He had $1,000 in paper money. When he went to get it a few months later, he found that the fire had cut it into small bits and were rolling in wealth. He lost every cent of it.

These cases show the folly and insecurity of trying to keep money at home. Yet there are many people who do it. They feel as safe as those who do not. Now they probably wonder why they did not deposit their money in a good bank. That is what every citizen should do and thus avoid possibility of loss.

He was a step son of the late James R. Dean.

CANNING FACTORY.

Contracts Are Now Being Made For the 1906 Season.

The Louisa Canning Factory is arranging for the largest possible run for the 1906 season. The first work to be done is the closing of contracts with the farmers for tomatoes, beans and pumpkins. This work has been assigned to Henry E. Evans. Those desiring to contract should see him as soon as possible. It is not likely that products will be received from any except those with whom the company has contracted.

Almost all of the farmers who raised products for the factory last year will put in larger crops this year. And this is the secret of getting a satisfactory profit out of the crop. Each farmer should put in sufficient acreage to give him a full load for each trip to the factory. Too small a crop loses the profit in carrying such small quantities to the factory.

We have investigated in one county in Indiana where there are eight factories. The farmers are evidently well satisfied with the returns, as they supply all of those factories with all the products they want. The price paid there for tomatoes is $6.50 per ton, which is less than the price given here.

The Louisa factory distributed a considerable sum of money in this community last year. There were difficulties to overcome that will probably not be encountered again. The experience has demonstrated beyond doubt that the plant can be a success. The shortage in the tomato crop was one of the worst features, but this was a general complaint throughout the United States. The season was very unfavorable.

The Big Sandy Brand of canned goods has established itself as first class wherever the goods have gone, which is a long step in the direction of success.

With proper encouragement from everybody the canning factory will prove to be one of the most beneficial enterprises we could have. It furnishes a market for an almost unlimited amount of products, giving the farmers cash returns earlier in the season than they could possibly get in any other way. Some of the crops last year brought about $10 per acre. There is no uncertainty about it. You know in advance what the price will be, and from good land properly cultivated you will realize more than in almost any other way.

Tom Fitzpatrick Dead.

Tom Fitzpatrick, former Congress man, politician and noted raconteur, died in Frankfort shortly after midnight Sunday at the home of Capt. Barry South, a relative. He had been ill but a few days, and his death was unexpected. He had been a sufferer from heart trouble for several years. Mr. Fitzpatrick was preceded to his grave a few years by his wife, who was a Miss South, and leaves one child, a daughter. The body was interred in the State cemetery at Frankfort Tuesday.

The biographical Congressional Directory says of him: "Thomas Y. Fitzpatrick, of Pennsylvania, Ky., was born in Floyd county, Ky., September 20, 1836; was educated in the common schools, studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1857; he was elected as County Judge, County Attorney and Representative from the district of Knott, Floyd and Letcher, following which he was elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress in 1838, and was re-elected to the Fifty-sixth Congress, after which time he retired from politics."

Mr. Fitzpatrick was well known here where he had many friends.

Supervisors.

The county Board of Supervisors is again in session. This time its work is mostly hearing numerous complaints of taxpayers who contend that their property is unduly taxed. The town was full of such complaints Monday. The Board will probably close its labors to-day.

We regret to learn of the dangerous illness of Mr. Chas. Fischer at Paintsville. Dr. A. P. Randall was called there Wednesday evening in consultation on the case. Mrs. Fischer, trained nurse, has also gone to Paintsville to assist in nursing for this patient. Mr. Fischer is a native of this county and one of Paintsville's most prominent merchants. He is a brother of Mr. Henry Fischer, of Webbville. The trouble is said to be typhoid fever. His many friends in Louisa hope to hear of his speedy recovery.

Mrs. L. S. Johnson, Mrs. L. S. Johnson, Burns Johnson, Sam Johnson, Rachel Johnson—in fact, the whole Johnson family, came to Judge R. T. Burns' Monday evening. Mr. Johnson, who is Superintendent for the company building the dam across the Ohio near Wheeling, has not much to do during cold weather and high water, so the dam folks have come to the parental roof for a season. Mrs. Johnson, who had been sick, much better.

The work of drilling the well near Yatesville, which is being done in the Louisa C. and O. Gas Co. pits, has been stopped for nearly two weeks by a very serious case of pneumonia in the town of Louisa, which will sell at first cost. Anyone desiring to go into the drug business will do well to examine and stock before buying elsewhere. Terms cash.

Miss Dove Robinson.

A Lawrence Co. Boy Honored.

Dear Editor:—No doubt it will interest the NEWS and its many readers to know that a boy from Lawrence county has been highly honored by his class. The trust conferred upon this young man was one worthy of any one's admiration. At a recent meeting of the senior class of the Hospital College of Medicine, Dr. J. C. Sparks was almost unanimously elected president of the class. The present graduating class, represented by Dr. Sparks, is one of the best in the history of the school, being represented by nearly every State in the Union. It is a noteworthy fact that the boys from Big Sandy have proven themselves able to contest successfully with those of any section in the Union. Dr. Sparks is one of the best in his class and no doubt will be first prize winner. He has been a faithful and hard student during the past four years and is a credit to his brilliant future in his chosen profession.

"Miss Jessie M. Parton."

Louisa readers of the Cincinnati Post may be interested in hearing that "Miss Jessie M. Parton," of that paper's staff of correspondents, the woman who made such efforts to win the Vermont woman and the New Jersey woman from the galleys formerly lived in Chateaufort. She is in reality Mrs. Tyree, the charming wife of Millard Milmore Tyree, a brilliant young Cincinnati lawyer, who is an old Chateaufort boy, and who practiced his profession in the Gate City up to a few years ago, when he located in the Queen City, where he has since prospered immensely, no small portion of that prosperity being the winning of Miss Parton as his happy bride.

Elocution.

This paper is glad to announce that Miss Ware, of Huntington, is making arrangements for a recital to be given in Louisa. Miss Ware is a well-known elocutist and highly recommended and should be liberally patronized. She will present a number of the young ladies and girls of our town to assist in the entertainment. Drills, songs, and recitations will be given. One-half of the proceeds will go to the M. E. Church, South.

Funeral Instead of Wedding.

Flood Curry, who fell or was pushed from a train not far from Williamson and thereby met his death, was not a resident of Louisa, as reported in the daily newspapers. He was one of a family of thirteen who at one time lived in this county near the Martin line, some of whom have figured in scrapes on both sides of the river. The young man who was killed seems to have been a quiet, well disposed man. According to one of our correspondents he was on his way to be married to a girl on Blackberry creek, Pike county, when the fatal accident occurred.

Marshal Stone.

The peace and good order prevailing in Louisa are attributable to the right enforcement of the law. A 44 his enforcement is due to the activity of Marshal Dick Stone. He has intelligence, with his activity, and he is wholly without fear and "plays no favorites."

More Water.

The water people state that in the future there will be no trouble about the water. A new pump has been put in and it certainly throws a powerful stream. All hope that the supply will be adequate to the demand and that nothing will occur to deprive our people of plenty of water for every purpose.

We saw a short time ago a very handsome living cow which had been won by James Kniffels, of Chateaufort, as a prize for excellence in some department of the automobile business. The cow is of silver, beautifully spotted. Mr. Kniffels is a native Southerner, now a resident of Chateaufort, and true to tradition, he won what he wanted. He is a brother of Mrs. Robert Burchett, of this place.

FOR SALE.

Fine Improved Farm and Store House for $3,000.

200 acres of land half a mile from Webbville depot, all under fence, 50 acres cleared, 50 acres in grass, fine orchard of improved fruit, fine two-story dwelling and good two-story storehouse, good wash house with chimney, summer kitchen. Residence all plastered and papered. 8 rooms, fine yard and garden. Good barn, etc. All good soil, fine corn land. Price $3,000. Must be sold at once. — at all. The offer is to be withdrawn March 1st. E. H. D. Webb, Webbville, Ky.

Lots of Bridge Material.

Judging from the big stacks of bridge material at the foot of Madison street and the constant work of the teams plying between the depot and the bridge site, it is only reasonable to presume that the bridge will soon assume tangible form, and such is the case. The clang of hammers and the other noises of construction will soon be heard and the bridge will begin to rise.

The Gossips' Club.

Sorry we have no account to present of the gastronomic feast of our good friends, the Gossips, this week. It may be they are giving their stomachs that "much needed rest" we read of in the papers, preparatory to "filling" that long felt want, we also read about. They held a business meeting, —almsday, and what they do when next they gather, armed with knife, forks and spoons, will probably be a plenty.

TO THE PUBLIC.

A Card of Explanation and Vindication.

Some individuals of malicious character, made and put in circulation false statements, wrongfully accusing me of having knowledge of the cause of the death of my friend, Grant Hubbard, on December 23rd, 1905. When Mr. Hubbard got on the train at Chateaufort, he spoke to me as a friend, we never having had any trouble in our lives, and were all eyes friends, and the man or woman who asserted this talk of my enemy with Grant, is full of falsehood and is too cowardly to look in my face and utter such an untruth. I was on the opposite side of the train and he was standing on the steps of the rear end of the train. He appeared to me to be intoxicated, to some extent. He looked at me and smiled as he stepped on the platform, as I entered the coach and went directly to the rear coach. After this I never saw Mr. Hubbard or thought of him, until I heard that he had jumped from the train near his own home and received injuries from which he died. I publish this explanation simply to vindicate myself against the vile insinuations of some slanderer who would make it appear that I had injured a friend or been instrumental in his death, not that I think anyone of common sense would attach the least belief to such unwarranted statements. DOCTORS COULD NOT HELP HER.

"I had kidney trouble for years," writes Mrs. Raymond Conner, wife of Shotton, Wash., and the doctors could not help me. I tried Foley's Kidney Cure, and the very first dose gave me relief and I am now cured. I cannot say too much for Foley's Kidney Cure. It makes the distressed kidneys sound so they will eliminate the poisons from the blood. Unless they do this, good health is impossible. Sold by Louisa Drug Company.

A CLEAN MAN.
Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver and new, clean, healthy tissues and fibers in every organ of the body. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.
